Driving out towards Mannheim we called on Mr. Chas. Wangeline who lives on the Jacob Doering farm, Charley has done as well as any Bridgeport boy we have so far come across. Like Jacob of old he married a wealthy farmer's daughter with whom he served for some years and now has complete control of the farm and is ably assisted by his companion who set us up a dinner fit for a prince. Mr. Wangeline purchased a bag of Mangury Barley from which he realized 56 bushels; he keeps this in a separate granary as he does all his new and special grains. Farmers would do well to buy some of this seed as the buyers pronounce it A. I. A neat shed for his rigs and implements adjoin this granary and a carpenter and tool shop are also added. His herd of dairy Durham cows are beauties, several of which average 12 pounds of butter per week, his horses are of the best, and his stock of pigs are doing splendidly, the poultry on this place are nice, fat and clean and no wonder as an excellently arranged stable and hen roost is provided for them. A magnificent view of the county town can be had from here, in fact from the top of his house the city of Guelph, 15 miles distant can be seen. Charley in his prosperity has not forgotten his brothers in Michigan, one of whom recently lost his wife and he went over and brought two of the children with him and will keep them until such time as their father wishes them sent home, thus following out the Golden Rule to do unto others as you would be done by. Mrs. W.has things about the house neat and tidy. We wish this interesting young couple and their little ones

Tailoring is as essential to the general business interests of a community […calling,], and Heidelberg [ ] represented in this particular. Mr. Smith opened his shop here in February, 1895, but he was not a stranger to the citizens for it was here that he learned his trade with Mr. Jacob Forler in 1887. Like many others who have served the required apprenticeship, he went forth among strangers to gain further experience. He first worked as a 'jour" in Waterloo and finally in Tavistock, and subsequently spent some time in New York State, working at his trade in several of the leading cities, where he acquired an experience which has proved beneficial to him as a fashionable tailor. Previous to coming here Mr. Smith had a shop at Carthage, but not being satisfied with the locality he concluded to remove to Heidelberg. Since coming here he has built up a fine patronage where others have failed. Many of the best families of the neighborhood are his customers. Mr. Smith is a native of St Jacobs, where he was born in 1872, his father, Mr. Henry Smith, being a well known citizen of that village, who was an employee in the old Cannery there for over twenty-two years. The subject of this sketch was married in May, 1897, to Miss Clara, daughter of Mr. Henry Doering, of Erbsville. Mr. Smith ferquently employes as high as four or five hands. He takes a deep interest in the welfare of the village and undoubtedly contributes as much toward its support as does any other citizen in similar circumstances. He is a member of the band - a musical organization that has earned quite an enviable reputation for Heidelberg, and in which he takes a deep interest.

It is our painful duty to record the death of Mrs. (widow) Heipel, which occurred [sic] on Friday evening last, shortly after six o'clock. She had been in her usual good health until the preceding evening while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ottmann, when she was suddenly stricken with paralysis of a fatal type and from which she never rallied. Her only absent child, Prof. Chas Heipel , of the Nashua (New Hampshire) business college, was at once telegraphed for, but she had passed away before his arrival. The funeral occured on Monday afternoon, the remains being laid away to rest in the Lutheran cemetery north of the village, in the presence of an immense concourse of friends, after which services were held in the church by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Holm. Deceased was born in Germany on Feb. [?]th, 1835, and, three months later in that year her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Doering, immigrated [sic] to Canada and settled at Philipsburg. Here the deceased lived with her parents until 185[4?] when she was married to the late John Heipel, the young couple taking up the bush lot, now on fine farm of their eldest son William at Doering's corners. Many years later they removed to the farm at New Pussia [sic], now owned by a younger son, Mr. Geo. Heipel, remaining on this farm until 1893, when they retired from farming moving to this village, where Mr. Heipel died about five years ago. Their family consisted of William at Doering's Corners; Adam (Councillor) ; Elizabeth, who died when three, years old; Andrew; Christina (Mrs. Peter Ottmann); John George, and Charles. She was of a kind, loveable disposition, and had a wide circle of warm friends, especially among the elder people of this section. The bereaved family have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their loss.

He developed a passion for photography at GCI high school and went on to study photography at Sheridan College. After college he became professionally known as Duke Bailey and started working for some of Toronto's top commercial photographers. Robert bravely endured 4 years of treatments and endless surgeries for osteosarcoma. He did everything he possibly could. Through all this, his clever sense of humour never left him. Recently at Lisaard House a nurse offered to turn on the fan to make him a little "cooler" and Robert immediately said, "I don't think that's possible". Kenneth D. Heipel (M) was born on 12 Oct 1935 in Wellesley Twp., Waterloo Region, Ontario, Canada[284] and died on 30 Sep 2025, at age 89.

Ken Heipel was a man of the land with deep roots in Wellesley

His ability to fix anything, particularly John Deere tractors, was legendary within the Upper Canada Two Cylinder Club, which he helped found in 1993.

One of Ken Heipel's fondest memories had been of a 1930 John Deere tractor.

Ken was nearly 12 years old, a Wellesley farm boy convincing his dad, Edward, that tractors were infinitely better than draft horses and he really wanted to be in charge of the John Deere, a machine that had a unique place in family lore.

Ken once wrote, "My dad could not pay for the tractor in 1930 because of the Depression … the dealer went to my grandfather and he paid for the tractor and it went on to the mortgage for the farm."

The cost was $650, equivalent today to more than $11,000.

The photo of young Ken sitting on the hard steel seat of that John Deere said it all: he was so proud, so capable.

It wasn't always an easy transition from equine horse power to mechanical horse power, such as the day the tractor died and Edward had to hitch up the horses to haul it back to the barn.

That old tractor is still in the family today, part of Ken's legacy that spanned decades. He was the man who seemed to have a natural intuition about motors and could fix anything, particularly John Deeres.

These abilities were legendary within the Upper Canada Two Cylinder Club, which he helped found in 1993.

Club member Art Freeman is still impressed by the vast amount of knowledge in Ken's head.

"He was a very intelligent guy," said Freeman. "And he had a memory you wouldn't believe."

Go to any tractor show and Ken would point out all the tractors he'd personally worked on, and over the years that amounted to hundreds.

With all this knowledge and Ken edging into his 80s, Freeman encouraged his friend to write down his stories and tips on fixing John Deeres.

But Ken hadn't even finished elementary school and didn't have a lot of confidence in his writing. Once he started though, the club's newsletter editor would receive piles of articles, all written by hand and in pencil.

Freeman said Ken didn't believe in periods. He'd start at the top of the page, finish at the very bottom and it would one long sentence. The newsletter editors had their work cut out.

Ken was born Oct. 12, 1935, in Wellesley, one of Edward and Della Heipel's three sons. The family farm had been in the Heipel family since John Heipel purchased it generations earlier.

"Family records go back to 1827," said Ken's daughter, Christine Stevenson. "He (John) was the first to come from Germany; he was a child when he came, adopted by a family in the area."

With such deep roots in the community, Ken was active in the church, volunteered at local fairs and parades and served two terms as a town councillor in the 1970s.

Though Ken was the youngest of the three sons, he took over the farm and met his first wife, Audrey Neeb, at a church social. They married in 1958 and raised four children: Jeff, Rodney, Robert and Christine.

In the late 1980s, the couple decided to leave the farm, building their dream house on a nearby 20-acre bush property that Ken had owned for decades. The property provided plenty of opportunities for his favourite activities: tapping maple trees and cutting fire wood. Stevenson joked her father had enough wood to last until 2030.

Sadly, Audrey contracted scleroderma, an auto-immune disease and died in 1997. A few years later, the lonely Ken attended a dance where he met Betty Kirby. Both loved to rip up the dance floor. They married in 2002.

Betty enjoyed rural life as much as her new husband.

"He needed to be out there doing things," said Stevenson. "We have lots of memories of being on the farm and we had a ton of fun. It was hard work but he made the work fun."

Even for a tough job such as stone picking, Ken would whistle and chat and the kids would go along with it, all laughing.

Ken suffered a stroke a couple of years ago and lost some mobility in his leg. Freeman remembered the story of how Ken tried to spin Betty around their kitchen table, hoping for one more dance. But he couldn't.

"He knew he had to give it up," said Freeman. "His leg and brain were not connecting."

Ken might have given up dancing but he refused to stay out of the bush, even at nearly 90 years old and with the bad leg.

On his last day, Ken and Betty had been in the bush cutting wood for their wood-fired furnace, just the two of them, doing what they loved.

He died Sept. 30 at age 89.

Death of Adam Doering, Esq., Deputy-Reeve of Wilmot

We very much regret to announce the death of this esteemed gentleman, which took place at his residence at Philipsburg, in the township of Wilmot, on Tuesday morning last. It is now well known that Mr. Doering's illness was of but short duration. Thursday of last week he accompanied Mr. Joseph Kaiser, second Deputy Reeve, on an inspection of a bridge near Lisbon. He was then in his usual rugged health. That evening on reaching home he was taken with severe chills, which not passing off, medical assistance was sent for, when it was found that severe inflammation of the lungs had set in. Even then nothing serious was anticipated. When visited on Saturday by his friend Mr. Kaiser, he was lying on a lounge with every anticipation that in a few days he would be better. But it was not to be, mere serious symptoms developed themselves, until all hope was abandoned and he sank to his rest on Tuesday morning last. Mr. Doering will be much missed and long remembered in the Township of Wilmot: He had been a member of the Township Council for fifteen years, and of the County Council for the past four bringing to the discharge of his public duties the same thoroughness of purpose and integrity of life which characterized him in his large social circle. Mr. Doering was the son of Mr. Andrew Doering, who is still living. He leaves a widow and two brothers, viz.: Messrs. Abel and Andrew Doering, who reside at Philipsburg. He was the nephew of the late Christopher Doering. His funeral will take place at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning.

Philipsburg District Farmer Dies in Tractor Mishap

Austin Doering, aged 55, of RR 2, Baden, died Saturday night as the result of a freak tractor accident along the Wellesley road.
Mr. Doering had taken the tractor to Wellesley to have some wood planed, and was on his way home when the accident happened. His body was found beside the wheel of the tractor early Sunday on the farm of Mrs. Alma Forler, RR 1, Baden.

It is believed the victim was westbound on Wilmot township road 3 when the tractor left the road and went through a deep drainage ditch, through a fence onto the Forler property and continued into the field before it stalled.

GERALD MAURICE ROTHAERMEL

Born November 20, 1924, Gerald Rothaermel, our beloved and respected father, grandfather, father-in-law and friend, passed away peacefully on Saturday, July 28, 2018.

Proud of, and devoted to, his family, Gerry is survived by son Mark and his daughter-in-law Jilean Bell, and his daughter, Janis Chevreau; grandchildren Owen and Marina Rotharmel, and Graham and Caitlin Chevreau (fiancé Stephen Edwards). Predeceased by his loving wife, Lorraine, parents, Pearl and Earl Rothaermel and brother Owen.

As a young man growing up in Bridgeport, ON., Gerry was a quick, fit and accomplished hockey player, playing for the Waterloo Siskins prior to serving in the Canadian Air Force in WWII. After the war, Gerry enjoyed a successful career, highlighted by meaningful, continuing friendships with colleagues and associates in the general insurance and marine business. Following many years of fishing and boating on Lake Huron, he developed a profound interest in professional powerboat racing, a sport that he passionately enjoyed with family. Near or far, Gerry was drawn to water and had many special moments on or around it – whether sailing in offshore seas, steadying a boat for the start of an F1 Grand Prix or relaxing with family and friends at his cottage on the Bruce Peninsula.

During his 93 years, Gerry led an active and balanced life, delighted by and appreciative of, warm friendships and adored pets. Traveling with wisdom and a caring heart, he put his best foot forward, fully engaged with those he was with. A consummate gentleman, Gerry's steadfast reliability and thoughtful advice was always sincere.

Family and friends are invited to celebrate Gerry's life at a Remembrance Service to be held at Lawrence Park Community Church, 2180 Bayview Avenue, Toronto M4N 3K7 on Thursday, August 2nd at 11:00 a.m. Reception immediately following. A private interment service will take place later at Woodland Cemetery in Kitchener.

Queen Street South, West Side.

A frame building used as a tavern by Phineas Varnum and later the kitchen of the Gaukel Hotel.

A frame building erected by Frederick Gaukel about 1833 as shelter for the considerable number of immigrants coming to Berlin at that time. In 1837 it was made into a dwelling for John Stroh, uncle of Jacob Stroh. Two children were born in this building, Katie, in 1838, (she married Jacob Oswald, still living, now 93 years of age), and Henry Stroh, born in 1840.

Hall's Lane.

A brick building erected about 1850. John Klein, father of John Klein of Buffalo, was the first occupant. Later the building was used as a printing office, first by the "Berlin Chronicle", William Jaffray editor and proprietor, and later by the "Berliner Journal", Rittinger & Motz. The site is now occupied by the Lockhart garage.

The Franklin Hotel, a handsome, good-sized frame building, erected by Philip Roth about 1856. Successive hotel-keepers were John Klein, Levi Gaukel, Frederick Riegelman, who later moved to Buffalo, and Jacob Weber. Weber was occupant in 1874 when the hotel was burned down. The fire started in the barn at the rear of the hotel. The hotel shed, next south, extended, at right angles, from Queen Street to the barn.

A garden.

A one and one-half story frame building lengthwise with the street occupied by Christopher K. Nahrgang whose parents came from Hessen, Germany, about 1835. He was married to a Miss Zinkann of New Hamburg.

A stone building used as a tailor shop by Mr. Nahrgang who was deaf and dumb. His wife helped him in the business. She lived to be 87. It was in this building that John Motz of the "Journal" and eventually County Sheriff, learned the tailoring trade.

A one and one-half story dwelling, erected about 1857, occupied by George Fischer, barber, who had his shop on King Street. A later occupant was George Lutz, a cabinet maker in Hoffman's factory and after him Henry Schaefer's mother.

A frame building lengthwise with the street, the church of the Evangelical denomination, erected in 1841. In 1866 it was replaced by the brick building still standing, now used as stores and upstairs dwellings.

A one and one-half story frame building with kitchen at the rear erected by William Becking, wagonmaker, about 1848. Becking was noted as a hunter. White hare and passenger pigeons, practically extinct long ago, were abundant at that time.

Becking's wagon-shop and lumber yard at the corner of John Street with the customary incline and stair to the second story of the shop. Up this incline the wagons were drawn to the paint shop. Valentine Gildner, at the corner of King and Benton Streets, did the blacksmith work for Becking's wagons.

John Street.

A one and one-half story house occupied by H. Baedecker in 1860 and later by Adam Doering.

Rev. F. W. Tuerk's residence erected about 1860 by Henry Rothaermel, a carpenter. The matching and planing was all done by hand, slow but thorough work. Window sashes, panel doors and all other requirements were made in the same manner. A skilled workman at that time was expected to he able to do painting as well as carpenter work. A single room in the shape of a square turret on the ridge of the building was Rev. Tuerk's study. The house was up-hill about twenty feet above the street level so that the study on top gave a good outlook. The site is now occupied by the York Apartments.

A frame building one and one-half story high.

Nothing but a building used as an ashery between that and Joseph E. Schneider's house and farm buildings.

After selling out in Neustadt, I came to Smithville, now Wellesley, in mid-summer of 1866, 51 years ago, and started to build the first unit of the present woollen mill. To this I added from time to time building nearly every year, as both labor and material were very cheap at that time. Sometime after I bought the flour mill located here from one Lorenz Doering. The Doerings were well known as early settlers in this part of the County and pioneers in Wellesley.

Christopher and Henry Doering, from Phillipsburg, laid out the village of Wellesley and built the flour mill and a sawmill, the dam and water power having been developed by a man named Smith after whom Smithville was named. The Doerings also built and operated a general store and it was this development and their enterprise that induced others to come here and start business, among them Alexander Meyer, tinsmith; Chas. Achtenberg, tailor; John Zoeger from Petersburg, who built a store and a hotel; Peter Berdux and one Freeborn and a man named Smith, all three of whom built hotels. Every one seemed to want to have a hotel. All of these early settlers have long since departed and, hale and hearty, at 85 years of age, I feel as if I were about the only one that is left....

DEATH OF DAVID DOERING

Brother of Mr. Fred. Doering of Waterloo, Passes Away at Oakley, III. A Sketch Of His Life.

David Doering the veteran wheat buyer of Oakley, passed quietly away at his home in Oakley, Ill. on Saturday morning, Feb. 21, after a lingering illness of two years from diabetes. Dave Doering has been a conspicuous figure in the making of Oakley's history for the past 21 years

He came to this city in 1885 and has claimed his residence every since. He first engaged in the mercantile business and for many years suffered the vicissitudes of fortune which pioneers always suffer in a new town, but he stayed with the county and when times were good reaped his reward.

The year of 1893 he spent in Alberta Canada, returning to Oakley 1894. He then went to Victor, Colorady[sic] but remained there but a few months, when he returned to Oakley and engaged in the flour, feed and grain business in which business he remained until the time of his death. Dave Doering was principally known as the maker of the wheat market in Oakley. It was principally through his efforts that Oakley was made on of the best wheat markets in the west. Many men have travelled many extra miles to sell Dave Doering wheat be cause it always brought every cent it was worth on the market. He was typical pioneer, always obliging, and never too busy to do any man a favor. His passing is marked by deep regret of all who knew him, and the bereaved family have the sympathy of all. He leaves a wife, two daughters and one son to mourn his death. The daughters Miss Minnie Doering, of Topeka, and Mrs. Warren Knittle, Salina, were present for the funeral. The son, Ed. Doering, of Muskogee I. T., did not arrive until Thursday morning.

David Doering was born in Berlin Ontario, Canada, Sept. 25, 1839; was next to the oldest child in a family of thirteen children. Died in Oakley Kansas, Feb. 1906, aged 66 years 5 months and 29 days. Funeral services were conducted at the Presbyterian church on Monday, Feb. 26, by Rev. Everett, of Wakeeney. The remains were taken to Salina, where interment took place.

J. N. Zinkann.

As you enter the village from almost any direction on either of the four public highways that concentrate here, the large new brick mercantile establishment and residence combined, owned by the above named gentleman, looms up conspicuously. The structure is two stories in height with a frontage of 60 feet and a depth of 73 feet. The mercantile. department was erected about eight years ago, and the residence addition about one year ago. The former is a commodious affair, and probably contains as much floor space any other village mercantile establishment in the Province. Mr. Zinkann commenced business here fifteen years ago. He is a man who can not be credited with having spent any of his time in idleness since his boyhood days. He was born at Hamburg in 1839 Until he was able to take care of himself he spent his life upon the farm. His ambition seems to have drifted toward dairying, and he is to day about as extensively engaged in that industry as any other one man in the dairy districts. Prior to coming here he was engaged in cheesemaking and farming at Lisbon, and now owns a fine farm of 154 acres near that village which is under the management of his son, Charles S. He also is the owner of a farm of 100 acres, a short distance south of Crosshill, managed by Mr. William Beilstein. Mr. Zinkann is also Secretary and Treasurer of the Crosshill Creamery Co. The greater portion of his time is now taken up in buying up for export the output of the various creameries throughout Waterloo, Wellington, Huron, Grey and Bruce. During the course of a year his purchases of butter are very extensive. His family has all grown up, and he is now ably assisted in his vast business interests by several of his sons. His father was for many years a prominent and well known carpenter of Hamburg. The mercantile business is under the management of Mr. Eph. Zinkann, his son. The latter was born at Lisbon in 1866, and through a thorough training derived from the ripe experience of his father, he has achieved good success as a business man. To take a glance at the great array of staple goods in the general; merchandise line, the neatness with which they are arranged, and the fresh, clean appearance of the large sales- room will convince one of that fact. The stock comprises dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, hats and caps, hardware, glassware, queensware, crockery, etc; in fact, anything required in a modern general mercantile establishment can be found here, and as cheap as it can be found anywhere. They both wholesale and retail. Io connection there is a well equipped dressmaking emporium, where the ladies of the surrounding community can be accommodated with the latest patterns in fabrics and neat fitting wearing apparel. Dr Friedrich Emanuel Doering

Dr. F. E. Doering.

Word has come through the Red Cross informing us of the death of Dr. Frederich Emanuel Doering in a nursing home on the Isle of Jersey on September 14, 1943, in his eighty-ninth year. Over a period of years he paid occasional visits to America, as is well remembered by his many New Church relatives and friends in Canada and the United States; and he attended several General Assemblies, including the one held in London, England, in the year 1928.

We are indebted to Miss Celia Bellinger, his niece, for the following sketch of his career:

He was born in Phillipsburg, Ontario, in May, 1850, and was baptized and confirmed in the New Church by the Rev. F. W. Tuerk of Berlin, now Kitchener. The older brothers and sisters of a family of thirteen attended the New Church school at Urbana, Ohio, but after the death of their father, Christopher Doering, the younger children were unable to attend that school.

Dr. Doering studied dentistry in Canada. Later he took a postgraduate course in Philadelphia and graduated as Doctor of Medicine. He worked his way through medical school by practicing dentistry in small mining towns during vacation.

After graduation he sought adventure in new fields, and established a large practice in Johannesburg, South Africa, and later one in Pretoria. As his love and interest had also been in sheep ranching, he procured large tracts of Government grants in Kenya Colony, near Nairobi, which he stocked with herds of cattle and sheep.

Africa had become his home, and after the Boer War he devoted his talents to the development of the country he loved so dearly. But when he retired from active duty he became a world traveler, searching out remote places of the earth; for his interest lay in the opening up and development of new lands.

Finally he settled in a comfortable home in Jersey, one of the Channel Islands, where he found keen pleasure in experimenting with a French gardener in raising unusual fruits, grains and trees.

At the outbreak of the war he was in London, England, about to sail for Canada. Being taken very ill, and returning to his home in Jersey to convalesce, he was unable to leave when the Islands were occupied by the Germans in June. 1940. All communication with the outside world was cut off, and in the course of three long years he received and answered but two messages from members of his family, through the instrumentality of the Red Cross.
